

Determining Central Idea and Details

CCLS

RI.4.2: Determine a central idea of a text and how it is conveyed through particular details...

Extraordinary Plants

Think about your favorite story. If you had to tell a friend what it's mostly about, what would you say? A text's central idea is the most important point the writer is trying to make. Sometimes it is directly stated, but more often it's implied. Supporting details are facts, examples, reasons, or descriptions that explain and expand on the central idea.

Look at the illustration. What do you think are the topic and central idea? What supporting details do you see?

Draw a circle around the topic of this illustration. Then use the idea web below to record the central idea of the picture and some supporting details.

Readers determine a text's or image's central idea and supporting details so they can better understand its purpose. A central idea often needs to be figured out by analyzing the supporting details. Think of yourself as a detective describing a complex situation and finding clues to support your observations.
