Women and the Nigeria-Biafra War Sussie U. Aham-Okoro,Gloria Chuku,2020-10-07 This first comprehensive study of the Nigeria Biafra War 1967 1970 through the lens of gender explores the valiant and gallant ways women carried out old and new responsibilities in wartime and immediate postwar Nigeria The book presents women as embodiments of vulnerability and agency who demonstrated remarkable resilience and initiative waging war on all fronts in the face of precarious conditions and scarcities and maximizing opportunities occasioned by the hostilities Women s experiences are highlighted through critical analyses of oral interviews memoirs life histories fashion and material culture international legal conventions music as well as governmental and non governmental sources The book fills the gap in the war scholarship that has minimized women s complex experiences fifty years after the hostilities ended It highlights the cost of the conflict on Nigerian women their participation in the hostilities and their contributions to the survival of families communities and the country The chapters present counter narratives to fictional and nonfictional accounts of the war especially those written by men which often peripheralize or stereotypically represent women as passive spectators or helpless victims of the conflict and also highlight and exaggerate women s moral laxity and sensationalize their marital infidelities option of the Igbo by the Nigerian state under the false premise of No Victor No Vanquished and the Igbo commitment to self preservation on the other Re-Reading Tragic Africa Amy Rushton,2024-05-31 Grounded in world systemic analysis this book revisits the literary and social implications of tragedy in relation to global narratives about Africa and within fiction by writers from the continent It argues that working through the full complexity of tragedy helps to identify and challenge plots that depict Africa as reaching a tragic impasse Instead reconsidering tragedy allows for further related interventions including the implications of narratives of development the argument for formally engaging with literary texts that present challenging material reformulations of African political and cultural agency and the possibilities to be found in utopian thinking It claims that contemporary fiction helps to scrutinise the familiar big picture of Africa and create space for discussions about wider political and historical commonalities between the continent and the rest of the world As such the novels discussed in this study are not simply about Africa these fictional narratives position Africa as a central actor within the global history of late capitalism African Women Writers and the Politics of Gender Sadia Zulfiqar,2016-09-23

This work examines the work of a group of African women writers who have emerged over the last forty years While figures such as Chinua Achebe Ben Okri and Wole Soyinka are likely to be the chief focus of discussions of African writing female authors have been at the forefront of fictional interrogations of identity formation and history In the work of authors such as Mariama B Senegal Buchi Emecheta Nigeria Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Nigeria Tsitsi Dangarembga Zimbabwe and Leila Aboulela Sudan there is a clear attempt to subvert the tradition of male writing where the female characters are often relegated to the margins of the culture and confined to the domestic private sphere This body of work has already generated a significant number of critical responses including readings that draw on gender politics and colonialism but it is still very much a minor literature and most mainstream western feminism has not sufficiently processed it The purpose of this book is three fold First it draws together some of the most important and influential African women writers of the post war period and looks at their work separately and together in terms of a series of themes and issues including marriage family polygamy religion childhood and education Second it demonstrates how African literature produced by women writers is explicitly and polemically engaged with urgent political issues that have both local and global resonance the veil Islamophobia and a distinctively African brand of feminist critique Third it revisits Fredric Jameson s claim that all third world texts are national allegories and considers these novels by African women in relation to Jameson s claim arguing that their work has complicated Jameson s assumptions Study Guide: Half of a Yellow Sun by Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie
