Sukuk Vs. Eurobonds Selim Cakir, Faezeh Raei, 2007-10
This paper assesses the impact of bonds issued according to Islamic principles (Sukuk) on the cost and risk structure of investment portfolios by using the Value at Risk (VaR) framework. The market for Sukuk has grown tremendously in recent years at about 45 percent a year. Sukuk provide sovereign governments and corporations with access to the huge and growing Islamic liquidity pool in addition to the conventional investor base. The paper analyzes whether secondary market behavior of Eurobonds and Sukuk issued by the same issuer are significantly different to provide gains from diversification. The analysis employing the delta normal as well as Monte Carlo simulation methods implies such gains are present and in certain cases very significant.

Making Money Work Asian Development Bank, 2015
The new sustainable development agenda is expected to touch every country, person, and activity. Therefore, shouldn't every dollar count toward achieving it? Asia and the Pacific, home to more than half of humanity, has the money to improve the lives of all its people and protect the planet in fair and durable ways. However, funds are in many hands, invested elsewhere or used for various purposes. It is time to move beyond this fragmentation and align finance behind sustainable development, recognizing that while capital will be key, so will the capacity to apply and attract it effectively. This report explores some of the ways forward. It highlights not just the need to inject more money into investments that contribute to sustainable development but also the need to attract funds toward them to finance human needs, infrastructure, and cross-border public goods. The report spans public and private options in their distinct roles and in combination. An eight-point agenda suggests how key constituents can do their parts. Working together, they can make money work for development where benefits are not only more equitably shared but will last for generations to come.
