We Need to Talk about Family Roberta Garrett, Tracey Jensen, Angie Voela, 2016-08-17 We are the first generation in recent history to not know if our children will have a better life than us Over the past thirty years the dream of upward mobility and stable and securely paid employment has dissipated This collection draws together insights from the disciplines of cultural studies literary theory psychoanalysis psychosocial studies social policy and sociology in order to explore the complex and contested status of the family under neoliberalism At one end of the spectrum the intensification of work and the normalisation of long hours working culture have undermined the time and energy available for private family life At the other end the fantasy of the nuclear family as a potential haven in a heartless world is rapidly unravelling supplanted with a hypercompetitive neo traditionalist mobile neoliberal family seeking to capitalise on the uneven spread of resources in order to maximise the futures of its own children As neoliberalism has always been split between socio economic realities and the expectations of where we should be we are always living with the anxiety of being left behind and the hope that the best is yet to come The chapters in this collection signal the troubles of the neoliberal family in particular the gulf between the practical conditions of family life and the formation of new fantasies The volume addresses the neoliberal family in a range of contexts from the domestic reproductive and bio political regulation of family life the representations of the neoliberal family on television and across social media to the negotiation of family dynamics in maternal memoirs The work provides a much needed corrective to the critical emphasis on the macrostructures of the neoliberal world The Times Index, 2010 Indexes the Times Sunday times and magazine Times literary supplement Times educational supplement Times educational supplement Scotland and the Times higher education supplement A Pastoral Theology of Childlessness Emma Nash, 2021-05-31 The experiences of infertility and childlessness while not worse than other griefs and disappointments people experience are nevertheless distinctive in a number of important respects Unlike other griefs they often take place in private with no body no funeral and no public acknowledgement of the loss In her profound and wise theology of childlessness Emma Nash takes her own story as a starting point examining several distinctive features of this painful human experience She asks what biblical and theological resources offer consolation and what liberative action individuals and churches might take to make an appropriate response Weaving trauma theology together with personal experience Nash offers a profound and heartfelt theological reflection which breaks the barriers between pastoral resource and carefully constructed theology Year 7 Mathematics Revision & Exam Workbook 2 - Extension A.
