classic authors from Chaucer to contemporary figures such as Kingsley Amis The Companion brings a new perspective on how literary biography enables the reader to deal with the relationship between the writer and their work. Literary biography is the most popular form of writing about writing yet it has been largely neglected in the academic community. This volume bridges the gap between literary biography as a popular genre and its relevance for the academic study of literature. This important work allows the author of a biography to be treated as part of the process of interpretation and investigates biographical reading as an important aspect of criticism. Examines the birth of literary biography at the close of the seventeenth century and considers its expansion through the eighteenth, nineteenth, and twentieth centuries. Addresses the status and writing of literary biography from numerous perspectives and with regard to various sources, methodologies, and theories. Reviews the ways in which literary biography has played a role in our perception of writers in the mainstream of the English canon from Chaucer to the present day. Written for students at the undergraduate level through postgraduate and doctoral levels as well as academics. A Companion to Literary Biography illustrates and accounts for the importance of the literary biography as a vital element of criticism and as an index to our perception of literary history.

George Eliot, 1898 King of the Middle March (The Arthur Trilogy, Book 3) Kevin Crossley-Holland, 2010-02-01

Kevin Crossley Holland's award-winning Arthur trilogy comes to its triumphant and moving close now in paperback. Arthur de Caldicot waits eagerly in Venice for the start of the Fourth Crusade. But it's now when Arthur's future should be clearest that he feels the most doubt. Jealousies and greed threaten the Crusade, leading him to question its true mission. Back in England, his engagement to Winnie remains uncertain as his search for his birth mother is stymied by his vicious father. And his seeing stone shows him the last days of King Arthur's court, a great dream destroyed but also a glorious legend rising from the ruins. Likewise in this book, Arthur becomes a man worthy of his kingly name.

Desert Island Discs: 70 Years of Castaways Sean Magee, 2012-09-13

For seventy years now Desert Island Discs has managed that rare feat to be both enduring and relevant. By casting away the biggest names of the day in science, business, politics, showbiz, sport, and the arts, it presents a cross-sectional snapshot of the times in which we live. As the decades have passed, the programme has kept pace, never frozen in time yet always somehow comfortingly the same.

Kirsty Young, BBC Radio 4's Desert Island Discs, celebrates its seventieth birthday in 2012. Since the programme's deviser Roy Plomley interviewed comedian Vic Oliver in January 1942, nearly 3,000 distinguished people from all walks of life have been stranded on the mythical island, accompanied by only eight records, one book, and a luxury. Here, the story of one of BBC Radio 4's favourite programmes is chronicled through a special selection of castaways. Roy Plomley, inventor of the programme, as well as its presenter for over forty years quizzes the young Cliff Richard about these rather frenzied movements the 1960s pop sensation makes on the stage Robert Maxwell tells Plomley s successor Michael Parkinson that I will have left the world a slightly better place by having lived in it Diana Mosley assures Sue Lawley that Adolf Hitler was extraordinarily fascinating and had mesmeric blue eyes And Johnny Vegas tugs Kirsty Young s heart strings with his account of a childhood so impoverished that family pets were fair game My dad had always claimed that rabbits were livestock but we d never eaten one before Desert Island Discs is much more than a radio programme It is a unique and enduringly popular take on our lives and times and this extensively illustrated book tells in rich detail the colourful and absorbing story of an extraordinary institution

Centuries ago when books were rare those who owned them would lend them to friends who in turn would copy out passages they especially liked before returning the precious book to its owner These anthologies came to be known as Commonplace Books and modern writers as different as W H Auden and Alec Guinness have kept them as well recording phrases or passages that struck them as wise or witty or quirky The result is as much the self portrait of a sensibility as it is a collection of miscellaneous delights Renowned poet J D McClatchy has been keeping such a book for three decades now This selection from it offers a unique look into what strange facts what turns of mind or phrase what glorious feats of language and nature can attract the attention of a poet The great and the obscure are gathered around the same table exchanging remarkable opinions Henry James is speaking of Venice The deposed the defeated the disenchantd the wounded or even only the bored have seemed to find there something that no other place could give At the other end of the table Groucho Marx is playing drama critic I didn t like the play but then I saw it under adverse circumstances the curtain was up Nietzsche and Flaubert Dizzy Gillespie and Marianne Moore dozens of unexpected and timeless aphorisms and anecdotes that pierce and provoke Many of McClatchy s own observations about the art and prowess of writing are included as well This is a book meant to be sipped not gulped meant to be read at leisure and pondered on at length
