Barringer, 1995 The Image of the Artist in Archaic and Classical Greece Guy Hedreen, 2016 This book explores the persona of the artist in Archaic and Classical Greek art and literature Guy Hedreen argues that artistic subjectivity first expressed in Athenian vase painting of the sixth century BCE and intensively explored by Euphronios developed alongside a self consciously constructed persona of the poet He explains how poets like Archilochos and Hipponax identified with the wily Homeric character of Odysseus as a prototype of the successful narrator and how the lame yet resourceful artist god Hephaistos is emulated by Archaic vase painters such as Kleitias In lyric poetry and pictorial art Hedreen traces a widespread conception of the artist or poet as socially marginal sometimes physically imperfect but rhetorically clever technically peerless and a master of fiction Bringing together in a sustained analysis the roots of subjectivity across media this book offers a new way of studying the relationship between poetry and art in ancient Greece Images in Mind Deborah Tarn Steiner, 2020-09-01 In archaic and classical Greece statues played a constant role in people s religious political economic aesthetic and mental lives Evidence of many kinds demonstrates that ancient Greeks thought about and interacted with statues in ways very different from our own This book recovers ancient thinking about statues by approaching them through contemporary literary sources It not only shows that ancient viewers conceived of images as more operative than aesthetic but additionally reveals how poets and philosophers found in sculpture a practice good to think with Deborah Tarn Steiner considers how Greek authors used images to ponder the relation of a copy to an original and of external appearance to inner reality For these writers a sculpture could straddle life and death encode desire or occasion reflection on their own act of producing a text Many of the same sources also reveal how thinking about statues was reflected in the objects everyday treatment Viewing representations of gods and heroes as vessels hosting a living force worshippers ritually washed clothed and fed them in order to elicit the numinous presence within By reading the plastic and verbal sources together this book offers new insights into classical texts while illuminating the practices surrounding the design manufacture and deployment of ancient images Its argument that images are properly objects of cultural and social rather than purely aesthetic study will attract art historians cultural historians and anthropologists as well as classicists The Image of the Artist in Archaic and Classical Greece Guy Hedreen, 2015 This book explores the persona of the artist in Archaic and Classical Greek art and literature A History of Greek Art Mark D. Divine Music in Archaic and Classical Greek Art Carolyn Laferrière, 2024-02-29 In this volume Carolyn M Laferrière examines Athenian vase paintings and reliefs depicting the gods most frequently shown as musicians to reconstruct how images suggest the sounds of the music the gods made Incorporating insights from recent work in sensory studies she considers formal analysis together with literary and archaeological evidence to explore the musical culture of Athens Laferrière argues that images could visually suggest the sounds of the gods music This representational strategy whereby sight and sound are blurred conveys the unhearable nature of their music because it cannot be physically heard it falls to the human imagination to provide its sounds and awaken viewers multisensory engagement with the images Moreover when situated within their likely original contexts the objects establish a network of interaction between the viewer the visualized music and the landscape all of which determined how divine music was depicted perceived and reciprocated Laferrière demonstrates that participation in the gods musical performances offered worshippers a multisensory experience of divine presence
