Case Number: 01234

Patient Initials: JAT

Initial Date of Patient Consultation: February 15, 2050

Subjective Patient Complaints

The patient reported constantly feeling throbbing lower-back pains that often resulted in the inability of the patient to perform daily household functions such as sweeping the floor or the difficulty of simply lying flat in bed. According to the patient, this started a year after she delivered a cesarean birth to her firstborn.

Objective Findings

MRI scans that were obtained twice found that there was no problem with the lumbosacral and the pelvic region. No lumps were found nor were there any bone and muscle disorientation noted. Similarly, an MRI scan of the kidney revealed no abnormal tissues and that both kidneys were clean. There was no indication of a urinary tract infection.

Analysis

Because the patient only felt the pain after pregnancy, the lower-back pains are mostly attributed to the hormonal changes all women undergo after pregnancy. The double dosage of anesthesia to the spine that the patient reported being administered during the c-section may have resulted in the relatively long-lasting impact of epidural anesthesia. However, this still requires thorough studies of the long-lasting impact of c-sections on women as more cases like Patient 01234's have been reported.

Conclusion

Assessing how the female body degenerates after c-sections is vital in preventing serious complications in future pregnancies. Moreover, it is important in helping the woman understand and heal from a cesarian delivery. Patient 01234's case is one of the 312 reported c-section-attributed bodily pain instances. This calls for an investigation into how and what bodily changes occur after c-section delivery.
