Global Nomad Backpacker Travel In Theory And Practice:

The Global Nomad Greg Richards, Julie Wilson, 2004-03-16 Backpackers have shifted from the margins of the travel industry into the global spotlight This volume explores the international backpacker phenomenon drawing together different disciplinary perspectives on its meaning impact and significance Links are drawn between theory and practice setting backpacking in its wider social cultural and economic context

Tourism and Visual Culture Peter M. Burns, Cathy Palmer, Jo-Anne Lester, 2010 The study of tourism as a complex social phenomenon beyond simply business is increasing in importance Providing an examination of perceptions of culture and society in tourism destinations through the tourist s eyes this book discusses how destinations were and are created and perceived through the lens of the tourist s gaze

Tourism and Mobilities Peter M. Burns, Marina Novelli, 2008 Bringing together theoretical and practical issues this edited volume analyses tourism s wider role as an agent for the mobile modern population of the world Offering a thought provoking examination of modern tourism themes range from post modern youth and independent mobility to theoretical texts on hypermobility and citizenship within global space and mobility media and citizenship

A Narrative Community Chaim Noy, 2006-11-07 An intertextual examination of the storytelling of Israeli backpackers that analyzes their unique patterns of communication to create a thorough picture of this narrative community Backpacking or Tarmila ut has been a time honored rite of passage for young Israelis for decades Shortly after completing their mandatory military service young people set off on extensive backpacking trips to exotic and authentic destinations in so called Third World regions in India Nepal and Thailand in Asia and also Colombia Ecuador Peru Brazil Chile and Argentina in Central and South America Chaim Noy collects the words and stories of Israeli backpackers to explore the lively interplay of quotations constructed dialogues and social voices in the backpackers stories and examine the crucial role they play in creating a vibrant voiced community

A Narrative Community illustrates how against the peaks of Mt Everest avalanches and Incan cities the travelers storytelling becomes an inherently social drama of shared knowledge values hierarchy and aesthetics Based on forty five in depth narrative interviews the research in this book examines how identities and a sense of belonging emerge on different social levels the individual the group and the collective through voices that evoke both the familiar and the Other In addition A Narrative Community makes a significant contribution to modern tourism literature by exploring the sociolinguistic dimension related to tourists accounts and particularly the transformation of self that occurs with the experience of travel In particular it addresses the interpersonal persuasion that travelers use in their stories to convince others to join in the ritual of backpacking by stressing the personal development that they have gained through their journeys This volume is groundbreaking in its dialogical conceptualization of the interview as a site of cultural manifestation innovation and power relations The methods employed which include qualitative sampling and interviewing clearly demonstrate ways of negotiating manifesting and embodying speech performances Because of its unique interdisciplinary nature A Narrative

Community will be of interest to sociolinguists folklore scholars performance studies scholars tourism scholars and those interested in social discourses in Israel

Slow Tourism Simone Fullagar, Kevin Markwell, Erica Wilson, 2012-03-23
Bringing together scholars from the areas of tourism leisure and cultural studies eco humanities and tourism management this book examines the emerging phenomenon of slow tourism The book explores the range of travel experiences that are part of growing consumer concerns with quality leisure time environmental and cultural sustainability as well as the embodied experience of place Slow tourism encapsulates a range of lifestyle practices mobilities and ethics that are connected to social movements such as slow food and cities as well as specialist sectors such as ecotourism and voluntourism The slow experience of temporality can evoke and incite different ways of being and moving as well as different logics of desire that value travel experiences as forms of knowledge Slow travel practices reflect a range of ethical political positions that have yet to be critically explored in the academic literature despite the growth of industry discourse

Everyday Practices of Tourism Mobilities Kaya Barry, 2017-07-20 The practice of packing a bag is a situation where subtle daily processes can attune us to the relationships and experiences formed in mobile situations There has been great attention to mundane and material practices in tourism yet the process of packing which is integral to any journey remains unexamined Everyday Practices of Tourism Mobilities Packing a Bag expands on the foundational theories of tourist practices through a rich assortment of photographic documentation and interviews with tourists in hostelling accommodation It presents the intricacies and relations emerging through packing and the connections to an array of actors entwined in both touristic and everyday experiences of movement Using case studies in Iceland and Nepal the book explores how idealised tourist destinations influence everyday actions The disjuncture between mundane routines and the heightened immersive environments is conducive to tourists attuning to the entanglement of actors and experiences beyond individual expectations The book traces these moments of collective experiences to reflect on the intersections of globalised mobility and everyday tourist practices The international scope of this highly original and intriguing book will appeal to a broad academic audience including scholars of tourism cultural and social geography mobilities studies and environmental humanities
