Jane Eyre Charlotte Brontë, 2008 Only Imagine Kathleen Stock, 2017-09-01 Only Imagine offers a theory of fictional content or as it is sometimes known fictional truth The theory of fictional content Kathleen Stock argues for is known as extreme intentionalism the idea that the fictional content of a particular work is equivalent to exactly what the author of the work intended the reader to imagine Historically this sort of view has been highly unpopular Literary theorists and philosophers alike have poured scorn upon it The first half of this book attempts to argue that it should in fact be taken very seriously as an adequate account of fictional truth better in fact than many of its more popular rivals The second half explores various explanatory benefits of extreme intentionalism for other issues in the philosophy of fiction and imagination Namely can fiction give us reliable knowledge Why do we resist imagining certain fictions What in fact is a fiction And how should the imagination be characterised

The Friction of the Frame Simone Heller-Andrist, 2012-03-07 In her study Simone Heller Andrist applies the Kantian and Derridean parergon to English literature The parergon is a specific type of frame that interacts with the work it surrounds in a fashion likely to influence or even manipulate our reading of the work On the basis of this interaction Derrida's parergon becomes a valid methodological tool that allows a close analysis of the mechanisms involved in the reading process The manipulative force of a textual construct is apparent through the occurrence of friction namely incongruities or gaps we notice during the reading process Friction is thus on the one hand the main indicator of parergonality and on the other the prime signal for a potential conditioning of the reader As readers we not only have to analyze the interaction between work and parergon but must also constantly reflect upon our own position with regard to the text that we read By means of the concept of the parergon we can approach not only paratextual narrative or discursive frames but also intertextual relationships Since the application of the concept is based on a basic textual constellation and an internal mechanism its range is wide and transcends or complements previously established textual categories

Art and Life in the Novels of Anita Brookner Eileen Williams-Wanquet,2004 This book treats all of Brookner s twenty two short novels as one monolithic fiction The autobiographical element in this controversial author s fiction is taken as a starting point to explore the complex interplay of art and life Autobiography as a form of emplotment of life is the creative matrix governing the whole oeuvre which is realistically rooted in time and space The study draws on narrative theory contemporary theories of fiction and recent feminist and ethical criticism It shows how Brookner s work combines and opposes both realistic and modernist modes of writing and their philosophical underpinnings The novels too often misread as anti feminist and resolutely pre modern appear to be more essentially postmodern than is usually acknowledged through a heightened awareness of the role played by narrative in constructing our sense of reality and of self The pervasive intertextuality habitually ignored or taken to be simply a form of intellectual snobbery is the key to understanding how the novels tackle questions of moral life as encoded in narrative discourse and fine art In addressing the questions of how life should have been lived Brookner s self reflexive and ironical fiction subversively rewrites the traditional moral codes embodied in romance and which have determined the behaviour of women Finally this study examines the function of writing as a performative act and the role played by repetition
