

A Guide to the APA Documentation Style

Why Is It Mandatory to Document Sources?

When you conduct research, you gain an understanding of a topic by becoming familiar with the work of other scholars in the field. To make a valid scholarly contribution, you need to gather background information, look up original sources, and read previous studies. Only after you have done all this work, can you begin to formulate your own ideas on the subject.

It is necessary to document, or acknowledge, the sources you consult during your research.

- By crediting your sources, you establish your credibility as someone who has accumulated an extensive knowledge of a subject.
- When you cite your sources, you also show that you can back up your claims and conclusions with valid evidence.
- No less importantly, providing a list of all the works you have consulted ensures that your readers can find the very sources you have looked up.
- It is also important to attribute the ideas that influenced your work in order to avoid any charges of plagiarism.

You should also familiarize yourself with the John Jay College Policy on Academic Integrity. The college defines plagiarism as “the act of presenting another person’s ideas, research or writings as your own.” The complete text of the policy can be found at <http://www.jjay.cuny.edu/academics/762.php>.

This guide briefly discusses the APA documentation style. It provides basic examples for citing sources within the text of a research paper. It also shows how to arrange sources into a list of references that comes at the end of the research paper.

You can find additional examples in the print copy of the Publication manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th ed. (Call Number BF76.7 .P83 2010) that is located by the reference desk on the 2nd floor of the library.

Some of the online library databases (e.g., Academic Search Complete, Criminal Justice Abstracts, PsycINFO, SOCIndex, Sociological Abstracts, SCOPUS) can automatically format your results list in accordance with the APA style. Most often, you will be able to take advantage of the option by putting your results into My Folder or Marked List (name of the feature will vary across databases) and emailing them to your account. With most databases, you also have the option of exporting your results to your RefWorks account and organizing them into an APA formatted reference list.

Helpful as automatic APA formatting is, it is not perfect. You should always double-check automatically generated reference list for accuracy.
