Structural Information and Communication Complexity Andrea Werneck Richa, Christian Scheideler, 2020-07-29
This book constitutes the refereed conference proceedings of the 27th International Colloquium on Structural Information and Communication Complexity SIROCCO 2020 held in Paderborn Germany in June 2020. The 19 full papers and 2 invited papers presented in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 41 submissions. They are divided into seven sections: i) invited papers; ii) mobile robots; iii) dynamic graphs; iv) network communication; v) multi-agent systems; vi) communication complexity; and vii) game theory. The conference was held virtually due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Modeling Communication with Robots and Virtual Humans Ipke Wachsmuth, Günther Knoblich, 2008-04-03
Embodied agents play an increasingly important role in cognitive interaction technology. The two main types of embodied agents are virtual humans inhabiting simulated environments and humanoid robots inhabiting the real world. So far, research on embodied communicative agents has mainly explored their potential for practical applications. However, the design of communicative artificial agents can also be of great heuristic value for the scientific study of communication. It allows researchers to isolate, implement, and test essential properties of inter-agent communications in operational models. Modeling communication with robots and virtual humans thus involves the vision of using communicative machines as research tools. Artificial systems that reproduce certain aspects of natural multimodal communication help to elucidate the internal mechanisms that give rise to different aspects of communication. In short, constructing embodied agents who are able to communicate may help us to understand the principles of human communication. As a comprehensive theme, Embodied Communication in Humans and Machines was taken up by an international research group hosted by Bielefeld University's Center for Interdisciplinary Research (ZiF Zentrum für interdisziplinäre Forschung) from October 2005 through September 2006. The overarching goal of this research year was to develop an integrated perspective of embodiment in communication, establishing bridges between lower-level sensorimotor functions and a range of higher-level communicative functions involving language and bodily action. The present volume grew out of a workshop that took place during April 5-8, 2006, at the ZiF as a part of the research year on embodied communication.
