Martín-Rodríguez,2003-10-30 In this examination of Chicano a literature Manuel M Martin Rodriguez analyzes the ways it connects with and is shaped by the interaction with its audiences Historia Louis Gerard Mendoza,2001 The nature of ethnic identity has been a major issue in the Mexican American community for decades now. Historia: The Literary Making of Chicana and Chicano History makes a superb contribution to the multidisciplinary exploration of ways Mexican Americans have chosen to present their past through both factual and fictional narratives. Whereas history has offered frameworks for interpreting generational changes in the understanding of identity, literature has been particularly rich in exploring themes of power and domination and of intragroup complexities. Louis Gerardo Mendoza argues in this innovative look at historical and imaginative literatures and their role in the formation of ethnic identity. Focusing on late twentieth century literature and history by American writers of Mexican descent, Mendoza examines how style, purpose, and context function to facilitate or constrain the understanding of the past. By juxtaposing the literary and the historical, he provides new insight on culture, agency, and experience. Mendoza accepts as his starting point the generational model posited by historian Mario Garcia, then contrasts for each generation the nuances and contradictions offered by one or more Chicana or creative writers. Other historians whose works are centrally considered include Juan Gomez Quiñones, Rodolfo Alvarez, Ricardo Romo, David Montejano, and Carlos Muñoz, while the literary writers featured include Jovita González, Alejandro Morales, Sara Estela Ramírez, Teresa Paloma Acosta, Oscar Zeta Acosta, and Américo Paredes. Mendoza argues that history is the narrative battleground upon which literature is based; the writing and rewriting of Chicano history thus becomes an important subtext of Chicana or literature. However, he contends that most Chicana or historical narratives are integrated uncritically into literary analysis to establish background, resulting in the invocation of the histories as representations of the real. Libraries, Borderlands scholars, and those interested in the broad issues of cultural studies will want to own Mendoza's innovative book, which instead of insisting on the strict separation of the two genres of history and literature, seeks ways to integrate them through the new critical analysis.

Mestizos Come Home! Robert Con Davis-Undiano, 2017-03-30. Uruguayan writer Eduardo Galeano has described U.S. and Latin American culture as continually hobbled by amnesia, unable or unwilling to remember the influence of mestizos and indigenous populations. In Mestizos Come Home, author Robert Con Davis-Undiano documents the great awakening of Mexican American and Latino culture since the 1960s that has challenged this omission in collective memory. He maps a new awareness of the United States as intrinsically connected to the broader context of the Americas. At once native and new to the American Southwest, Mexican Americans have come home in a profound sense; they have reasserted their right to claim that land and U.S. culture as their own. Mestizos Come Home explores key areas of change that Mexican Americans have brought to the United States. These areas include the recognition of mestizo identity, especially its historical development across the nineteenth and twentieth centuries; the re-emergence of indigenous relationships to land; and the promotion of Mesoamerican conceptions of the human body. Clarifying and bridging critical gaps in cultural history, Davis-Undiano considers important artifacts from the past and present, connecting the casta caste paintings of eighteenth century Mexico to modern day artists including John Valadez, Alma Lopez, and Luis A. Jiménez Jr. He also examines such community celebrations as Day of the Dead Cinco de Mayo and lowrider car culture as examples of mestizo influence on mainstream American culture Woven throughout is the search for meaning and understanding of mestizo identity A large scale landmark account of Mexican American culture Mestizos Come Home shows that mestizos are essential to U S national culture As an argument for social justice and a renewal of America s democratic ideals this book marks a historic cultural homecoming

Mestizaje Rafael Pérez-Torres,2006 Focusing on the often unrecognized role race plays in expressions of Chicano culture Mestizaje is a provocative exploration of the volatility and mutability of racial identities In this important moment in Chicano studies Rafael P rez Torres reveals how the concepts and realities of race historical memory the body and community have both constrained and opened possibilities for forging new and potentially liberating multiracial identities Informed by a broad ranging theoretical investigation of identity politics and race and incorporating feminist and queer critiques P rez Torres skillfully analyzes Chicano cultural production Contextualizing the history of mestizaje he shows how the concept of mixed race has been used to engage issues of hybridity and voice and examines the dynamics that make mestizo and mestiza identities resistant to as well as affirmative of dominant forms of power He also addresses the role that mestizaje has played in expressive culture including the hip hop music of Cypress Hill and the vibrancy of Chicano poster art Turning to issues of mestizaje in literary creation P rez Torres offers critical readings of the works of Emma P rez Gil Cuadros and Sandra Cisneros among others This book concludes with a consideration of the role that the mestizo body plays as a site of elusive or displaced knowledge Moving beyond the oppositions nationalism versus assimilation men versus women Texans versus Californians that have characterized much of Chicano studies Mestizaje synthesizes and assesses twenty five years of pathbreaking thinking to make a case for the core components sensibilities and concerns of the discipline Rafael P rez Torres is professor of English at the University of California Los Angeles He is author of Movements in Chicano Poetry Against Myths Against Margins coauthor of To Alcatraz Death Row and Back Memories of an East LA Outlaw and coeditor of The Chicano Studies Reader An Anthology of Aztlan 1970 2000

Coalition Literature Francisco E. Robles,2025-03-11 In a series of incisive readings Francisco E Robles provides a literary history of midcentury US multiethnic literature tracing the shift from coalitional aesthetics to multiculturalism by focusing on how migrancy and labor politics shape literary innovation Along the way Robles shows how writers kept the Popular Front s legacy of coalitional aesthetics alive through literary practices of what he calls speaking with whereby authors undo their authority as scribes audiences become participatory interpreters and texts emerge as places of communal and collaborative work Beginning with significant unexpected connections between Zora Neale Hurston and Muriel Rukeyser and delving deeply into the work of Sanora Babb Woody Guthrie Gwendolyn Brooks poets of the Memphis Sanitation Strike Carlos Bulosan Tom s Rivera and authors included in This Bridge Called My Back Robles examines texts whose range of experimental strategies deliberately engage figurations of movement migration and coalition The experimentation these works display emerges from the particular methods of speaking with that they contain whether it's overcoming exclusion by finding new ways of representing migrants through word and sound or in the astonishing ways these authors conceive of migrancy as neither static nor statistical but as a modality that necessitates writerly innovation. The result is a genealogy of coalitional aesthetics as a significantly important branch of American midcentury multiethnic writing that sustained and indeed extended the Popular Front and its legacies.

MultiCultural Review, 2000     Handbook of Spanish-English Translation Lucía V. Aranda, 2007. The Handbook of Spanish-English Translation is a lively and accessible book for students interested in translation studies and Spanish. This book details the growth of translation studies from Cicero to postcolonial interpretations of translation as rewriting. It examines through examples the main issues involved in translation and interpretation such as text types, register, interference, equivalence, and untranslatability. The chapters on interpretation and audiovisual translation and the comparative analysis of Spanish and English are especially significant. The second part of the book offers a rich compilation of diverse Spanish and English texts: academic, literary, and government writings, comic strips, brochures, movie scripts, and newspapers, and their published translations, each with a brief introduction by Professor Aranda.     Critical Mappings of Arturo Islas's Fictions Frederick Luis Aldama, 2008. The 17 essays and interviews collected in this book aim to enliven and enrich our understanding of one of our most important authors of contemporary Chicano literature. The late Arturo Islas wrote three novels including The Rain God and Migrant Souls, as well as many short stories. For much of his career, his work was rejected by the worlds of both mainstream and Chicano literature because of its experimental style and themes that focus on Chicanos learning to negotiate borders between nations, races, genders, even sexualities. This combination of early and recent essays explores his work addressing issues of technique, publishing in a prejudiced marketplace, and borderland racial and sexual identity. The essays map Islas's oeuvre to clear a space for the expression of a complex Chicano identity within a contemporary American canon. Several scholars have contributed, including Erlinda Gonzales Berry, Josi David Saldmvar, Rosaura Sanchez, and Renato Rosaldo.     Caliban, 1974. Etudes anglaises et nord am ricaines.     Critical Survey of Short Fiction Charles Edward May, Frank Northen Magill, 2001. Profiles more than four hundred authors of short fiction from around the world, presenting biographical and bibliographic information and summaries of major works. Also includes a reference volume with a chronology, a bibliography, lists of major award winners, twenty-nine essays on short fiction history, theory, and world cultures, and three indexes.     The Arizona Quarterly, 2014.     Chicano Representation and the Strategies of Modernism Ramon Garcia, 1997.     The Greenwood Encyclopedia of Latino Literature Nicolás Kanellos, 2008. Entries cover individual writers, themes, concepts, genres, historical events, and topics, movements, associations, and organizations, ethnic and national literatures, and publishers and magazines.     Z.
