Cognitive Processes In Translation And Interpreting:

Cognitive Processes in Translation and Interpreting Joseph H. Danks, 1997-03-20 With the accelerating emergence of global markets comes a demand for high quality translation and interpretation at all levels of business government and academia and therefore highly developed cognitive skills in two languages The interdisciplinary contributions in this authoritative volume provide a strong foundation for improvement in these skills The authors apply concepts and methods of cognitive science to translation focusing on the relationship between translation theory research and practice Describing Cognitive Processes in Translation Maureen Ehrensberger-Dow, Birgitta Englund Dimitrova, Séverine Hubscher-Davidson, Ulf Norberg, 2015-09-15 This volume addresses translation as an act and an event having as its main focus the cognitive and mental processes of the translating or interpreting individual in the act of translating while opening up wider perspectives by including the social situation in explorations of the translation process First published as a special issue of Translation and Interpreting Studies issue 8 2 2013 the chapters in this volume deal with various aspects of translators and interpreters observable and non observable processes thus encouraging further research at the interface of cognitive and sociological approaches in this area In terms of those distinctions the chapters can be characterized as studies of the actual cognitive translation acts of other processes related to the translation acts or of processes that are related to the sociological translation event Researching Cognitive Processes of Translation Defeng Li, Victoria Lai Cheng Lei, Yuanjian He, 2018-10-26 This edited volume covers an array of the most relevant topics in translation cognition taking different approaches and using different research tools It explores theoretical and methodological issues using case studies and examining their practical and pedagogical implications It is a valuable resource for translation studies scholars graduate students and those interested in translation and translation training enabling them to conceptualize translation cognition in order to enhance their research methods and designs manage innovations in their translation training or simply understand their own translation behaviours Translation and Cognition Gregory M. Shreve, Erik Angelone, 2010-05-28 Translation and Cognition assesses the state of the art in cognitive translation and interpreting studies by examining three important trends methodological innovation the evolution of research design and the continuing integration of translation process research results with the core findings of the cognitive sciences Several of the volume's essays focus on fruitful new process research methods such as eye tracking and keystroke logging that have arisen to supplement the use of think aloud protocols Another set of contributions investigates how some central theories concepts and methods from our sister disciplines of psycholinguistics cognitive psychology and neuroscience can inform our understanding of translation processes and their development in novices and experts Yet another set of essays argues that methodological innovation and integration with the cognitive sciences can lead to more robust research designs and theoretical frameworks to explain the intricacies of cognitive processing during translation and interpreting Thus this timely volume actively demonstrates that a new theoretical and methodological consensus in cognitive translation studies is emerging promising to greatly improve the quality verifiability and generalizability of translation process research

Cognitive Processing Routes in Consecutive Interpreting

Xiaodong Liu, 2021-09-13 This book addresses a controversial issue regarding SL TL transfer in the translation process namely the question as to the dominant route in English Chinese and Chinese English professional consecutive interpretations respectively the form based processing route or meaning based processing route It presents a corpus assisted product study in which the interpreting processing patterns of culture specific items CSIs are analyzed The study reveals that the dominant route in English vs Chinese consecutive interpreting varies under different circumstances Four factors are proposed to account for such differences linguistic variables e g grammatical complexity of the unit type of CSI language direction and extra linguistic variables e g multilateral or bilateral settings In summary the book systematically introduces a corpus assisted approach to translation process research which will benefit all readers who are interested in translation process research but cannot employ neuroscientific measures

Handbook of Translation Studies

Yves Gambier, Luc van Doorslaer, 2012 As a meaningful manifestation of how institutionalized the discipline has become the new Handbook of Translation Studies is most welcome It joins the other signs of maturation such as Summer Schools the development of academic curricula historical surveys journals book series textbooks terminologies bibliographies and encyclopedias The HTS aims at disseminating knowledge about translation and interpreting and providing easy access to a large range of topics traditions and methods to a relatively broad audience not only students who often adamantly prefer such user friendliness researchers and lecturers in Translation Studies Translation but also scholars and experts from other disciplines among which linguistics sociology history psychology In addition the HTS addresses any of those with a professional or personal interest in the problems of translation interpreting localization editing etc such as communication specialists journalists literary critics editors public servants business managers intercultural organization specialists media specialists marketing professionals Moreover The HTS offers added value First of all it is the first Handbook with this scope in Translation Studies that has both a print edition and an online version The advantages of an online version are obvious it is more flexible and accessible and in addition the entries can be regularly revised and updated The Handbook is variously searchable by article by author by subject A second benefit is the interconnection with the selection and organization principles of the online

Translation Studies Bibliography TSB The taxonomy of the TSB has been partly applied to the selection of entries for the HTS Moreover many items in the reference lists are hyperlinked to the TSB where the user can find an abstract of a publication All articles between 500 and 6 000 words are written by specialists in the different subfields and are peer reviewed Last but not least the usability accessibility and flexibility of the HTS depend on the commitment of people who agree that Translation Studies does matter All users are therefore invited to share their feedback Any questions remarks and suggestions for improvement can be sent to the editorial team at hts@lessius.eu

Translation and Interpreting as Social Interaction Claire Y.

Shih, Caiwen Wang, 2024-01-11 Adopting the tripartite theory of social psychology as its theoretical framework this book advocates that the three components of social interaction affect behaviour and cognition underpin the daily activities of translators and interpreters In particular it argues that the affect or emotion of translators and interpreters should not be overlooked or treated as a separate entity but as a crucial link between their mental process cognition and physical process behaviour This central theme of the intertwining nature of the affect behaviour and cognition of translators and interpreters is examined theoretically empirically and methodologically with contributions from around the world featuring literary translation translator training and interpreters practice It is a timely contribution to the field of Translation Process Research where affect is increasingly recognised as playing a key role in translation and interpreting phenomena The Quarterly Journal of Experimental Psychology ,1998 Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,2005 Exploring the Situational Interface of Translation and Cognition Maureen Ehrensberger-Dow, Birgitta Englund Dimitrova, 2018-08-02

The contributions of this volume explore the dynamics of the interface between the cognitive and situational levels in translation and interpreting Until relatively recently there has been an invisible line in translation and interpreting studies between cognitive research e g into mental processes or attitudes and sociological research e g concerning organization status or institutions However rapid developments in translation and interpreting practices professional non professional have brought to the fore the need to rethink theoretical perspectives and to apply new research methods The chapters in this volume aim to contribute to this discussion through conceptual and or empirical research Drawing on different theoretical and methodological frameworks they offer insights into diverse translation and interpreting situations in a number of different countries and cultures and their consequences for individual and collective cognition Originally published as special issue of Translation Spaces 5 1 2016
