Mba Leadership Notes:

Professionalizing Leadership Barbara Kellerman, 2018-02-02 Over the last 40 years the leadership industry has grown exponentially Yet leadership education training and development still fall far short Moreover leaders are demeaned degraded and derided as they never were before Why The problem is leadership has stayed stuck It has remained an occupation instead of becoming a profession Unlike medicine and law leadership has no core curriculum considered essential It has no widely agreed on metric or criteria for qualification And it has no professional association to oversee the conduct of its members or assure minimum standards Professionalizing Leadership looks to a past in which learning to lead was the most important of eruditions It looks to a present in which learning to lead is as effortless as ubiquitous And it looks to a future in which learning to be a leader might look different altogether it might resemble the far more rigorous process of learning to be a doctor or a lawyer As it stands now the military is the only major American institution that gets it right It assumes leadership is a profession that requires those who practice it to be taught in accordance with high professional standards Barbara Kellerman draws on the military experience specifically to develop a template for learning how to lead generally Leadership in the first quarter of the present century is different from what it was even in the last quarter of the past century which is why leadership taught casually and carelessly should no longer suffice Professionalizing Leadership addresses precisely the problem of how to prepare leaders in accordance with professional norms It provides the template necessary for transforming leadership from dubious occupation to respectable profession GUIDE to EARNING LAW and LAW-RELATED DEGREES NONTRADITIONALLY
