Human Geography Ch 7 Work Answers:

Environmental Publics Sally Eden, 2016-12-08 How do ordinary people think about the environment as they go about their daily lives Does thinking about the environment make them do things differently This book is the first to explore the idea of environmental publics that is the ways in which ordinary people engage with environmental issues across different practical contexts of work play and home Emphasising the practices of environmental engagement Environmental Publics examines how people consume the environment learn about it campaign for its protection and enjoy it through their leisure time But the book avoids relying on idealisations of consumers or citizens or theoretical constructs about behavioural norms that have traditionally dominated research in this field Instead this book differentiates environmental publics not by who they are but by what they are doing their daily practices It also analyses specifically the geographies of those practices how what people do affects the environment but in different ways across time and space and at different scales aspects of practices that are neglected in the literature With an interdisciplinary perspective this book will be of interest to students and scholars in geography sociology science and technology studies political science and anthropology It is written in an accessible and readable style so as to be useful for preliminary and more advanced courses in environmental management perception and policy as well as in studies of modern society consumption and environmentalism Human Geography Keith D.

Place/Culture/Representation James S. Duncan, David Ley, 2013-04-15 Spatial and cultural analysis have recently found much common ground focusing in particular on the nature of the city Place Culture Representation brings together new and established voices involved in the reshaping of cultural geography The authors argue that as we write our geographies we are not just representing some reality we are creating meaning Writing becomes as much about the author as it is about purported geographical reality The issue becomes not scientific truth as the end but the interpretation of cultural constructions as the means Discussing authorial power discourses of the other texts and textuality landscape metaphor the sites of power knowledge relations and notions of community and the sense of place the authors explore the ways in which a more fluid and sensitive geographer's art can help us make sense of ourselves and the landscapes and places we inhabit and
