Item Analysis

10. D. Incorrect

A. The student does not take the negative in the parentheses.

B. The student subtracts the 2 from the 2,000 and then the 0.002, without simplifying first. It just does not make sense for the units place.

C. The student does not subtract correctly in the units place and tenths place.

11. A. The student incorrectly calculates the exponent by subtracting the exponents and flipping the denominator.

B. Correct

C. The student incorrectly calculates the exponent by adding the denominators of the bases.

D. The student incorrectly calculates the exponent by dividing both the numerator and the denominator.

12. C. The student does not use the order of operations correctly.

D. Incorrect

A. The student does not use the order of operations correctly.

B. The student does not use the order of operations correctly.

13. A. The student does not find the greatest common factor.

B. The student finds the greatest common factor but does not divide the numbers.

C. The student does not find the greatest common factor.

D. Incorrect

14. Correct: The student demonstrates a thorough understanding of reducing and finding the greatest common factor and prime numbers. The student explains the length of the wall and the width of the hallway, converts the length of the wall to feet, and then divides the length of the wall by the width of the hallway to find the number of times longer the wall is than the hallway. The student shows a variety of calculations and the work used to solve the problem and complete explanations.

Correct: The student demonstrates an understanding of reducing and finding the greatest common factor and prime numbers, but the student's work is not completely accurate in calculating the final answer.

Correct: The student demonstrates a partial understanding of reducing and finding the greatest common factor and prime numbers. The student's work and explanations demonstrate a lack of general understanding.

Correct: The student demonstrates a minimal understanding of reducing and finding the greatest common factor and prime numbers. The student's response is incomplete and demonstrates flaws.

Correct: The student correctly answers a completely incorrect or nonsensical question, or is completely unresponsive. The student demonstrates a lack of understanding of reducing and finding the greatest common factor and prime numbers.
