The present study was designed to investigate the effects of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness and health-related quality of life (HRQL) of sedentary middle-aged men. The study was a randomized controlled trial. The participants were randomly assigned to either a training group or a control group. The training group performed a supervised aerobic and resistance training program, while the control group remained sedentary. The primary outcome was the change in HRQL, measured using the SF-36 questionnaire. Secondary outcomes included changes in physical fitness, such as maximum oxygen consumption ( $\dot{V}O_{2\max}$ ), and body composition. The results showed that the training group had significantly higher scores in several HRQL domains compared to the control group at the end of the 12-week period. Additionally, the training group showed significant improvements in physical fitness and body composition. These findings suggest that a 12-week training program can improve HRQL and physical fitness in sedentary middle-aged men.

The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The participants were recruited from local gyms and community centers. The training program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 45 minutes. The sessions included aerobic exercise (treadmill walking/running) and resistance training (free weights and machines). The control group was instructed to maintain their current level of physical activity. The data were analyzed using statistical software, and the results are presented in the following sections.

Keywords: Training, Physical fitness, Health-related quality of life, Sedentary, Middle-aged men.

Eight Propositions Joe L. Rempson, 2020-11-19 Rempson takes issue with those who lay the plight of African Americans on racism not seeing it today as a major obstacle to black progress Rather he traces the origin back to what he terms the African American Garden of Eden In it W E B Dubois outlasted Booker T Washington and fathered a tradition which Rempson argues has produced a victim identity and an emphasis on the system rather than the self Only black males offer a way out he declares because it is entirely our black males who are keeping us down and curtailing our progress in contrast to black females who are doing OK They are plagued by what Rempson calls the African American Male School Adaptability Crisis AMSAC Their academic performance ranks at the bottom alone below black female students and below white Asian and Hispanic male students In large urban areas their high school dropout rate is 59 percent and nationally they lag behind in college attendance and graduation rates The outcome Rempson argues is dysfunctionality and the existence of hedonistic norms which hinder family and community stability But while black males are the problem Rempson contends it is nevertheless only they who can solve it because research and experience show that it takes males to bring up and change other males Though intended for everyone he therefore writes his book to his fellow advantaged black males and makes a passionate plea for them to step up and with the help of black females and of the nation take the lead As their guide he has formulated eight propositions Arrived at through an examination of impressively extensive data from numerous sources and disciplines they are a marked departure from the customary Most strikingly delicate matters such as those which pertain to intelligence quotient IQ and culture are openly confronted and dealt with But Rempson writes unless confronted we will not solve our problems Nor he continues can we solve them unless we cut the umbilical cord to white America We have no right to expect it to be our savior nor are we justified in perceiving it as our oppressor Forcefully and finely written Rempson s book is a singular and courageous contribution Alone his eight propositions make it a worthy read

The African American Male School Adaptability Crisis (Amsac) Joe L. Rempson, 2016-03-12 The African American Male School Adaptability Crisis AMSAC cannot be solved by the school alone It is a race problem which can only be solved if we black males provide the leadership in tackling our three major demons which now mainly account for the problem IQ lag fatherless families crime AMSAC had its origin about 100 years ago when after the death of Washington DuBois gained ascendancy in our African American Garden of Eden and replaced Washingtons brains property and character gospel with a civil rights agenda That agenda has led to a civil rights fixation and our second bondage Victimology wherein being the victim has become part of our core identity and made us psychological slaves Rather than being proud and self reliant disproportionately we have come to see ourselves as victims who are entitled to system help and special treatment This bondage and it is a bondage vitiates our manhood and the energy and drive required to pursue the adaptation pathway paved by Washington but demonized by DuBois Return to that pathway and we can confront and conquer AMSAC and our three major demons Guided by history and the research evidence this book details how Its 20 chapters make for long reading but just by reading the first and last chapters you can get the message The motto of the proposed evidence based experimental program the African American Male Career Pathway Program AMCAP A special appeal is made to black athletes and entertainers to help propagate this motto and support the proposed high school student clubs Student AMCAPs in its implementation Resources in Education ,1990 Research in Education ,1974 Resources in Education ,1990

Behavioral Method Influences Student Interest Learning Johnny Ch Lok,2019-07-28 When the school can let its teachers to enjoy to do their teaching jobs and they can feel more satisfactory when they are teaching every time in classroom as well as its teachers can understand some students why they choose to do harmful learning behavior to influence the other students to concentrate on learning in classrooms and they can find the solvable methods to dissuade they do not choose to do harmful learning behavior or influence other students can not concentrate on learning in classrooms again Then between the school's teachers and students both can build positive teaching attitudes and learning attitudes in order to cause they can choose to do enjoyable and satisfactory teaching behaviors or performances to teacher and concentration on learning behavior or attitudes to students in classrooms Consequently when the school can build a good classroom learning environment to let teachers consider to teach their students in order to bring whose students can concentrate on learning in classrooms Then a good classroom learning environment will bring good learning economic and non economic benefit such as student number increases school income increases and teachers salaries increase student individual attention will raise student will enjoy to go to school and absence number will reduce Consequently any school's teacher individual teaching behavior and student individual learning behavior both in classrooms which must have positive or negative relationship to bring the school itself and the teachers themselves long term economic and non economic benefits in learning behavioral economic view point Also the importance is that learning behavioral economic analysis can explain why the teacher individual good or bad emotion can influence his/her every lesson student individual learning emotion to be good or bad to do learning behavior in classroom So schools need to concern every teacher individual emotion whether he/she feels enjoyable or satisfactory to teach his/her students in classrooms in order to avoid every classroom students learning emotion will be influenced to be poor to bring long time economic loss to the school It is one important factor to influence any school's teaching performance to be succeed

Teaching with the Brain in Mind Eric Jensen,2005-06-01 When the first edition of Teaching with the Brain in Mind was published in 1998 it quickly became an ASCD best seller and it has gone on to inspire thousands of educators to apply brain research in their classroom teaching Now author Eric Jensen is back with a completely revised and updated edition of his classic work featuring new research and practical strategies to enhance student comprehension and improve student achievement In easy to understand engaging language Jensen provides a basic orientation to the brain and its various systems and explains how they affect learning After discussing what parents and educators can do to get children's brains in good shape for school Jensen goes on to explore topics such as motivation critical thinking skills optimal educational environments emotions and memory He offers fascinating insights on a number of specific issues including How to tap into the brain's natural reward system The value of feedback The importance of prior knowledge and mental models The vital link between movement and cognition Why stress impedes learning How social interaction affects the brain How to boost students ability to encode maintain and retrieve learning Ways to connect brain research to curriculum assessment and staff development Jensen s repeated message to educators is simple You have far more influence on students brains than you realize and you have an obligation to take advantage of the incredible revelations that science is providing The revised and updated edition of Teaching with the Brain in Mind helps you do just that

Affective Learning Together Michael Baker, Jerry Andriessen, Sanna Järvelä, 2013 In the twenty first century being able to collaborate effectively is important at all ages in everyday life education and work within and across diverse cultural settings People are increasingly linked by networks that are not only means for working and learning together but are also ways of maintaining social and emotional support Collaborating with others requires not only elaborating new ideas together but also being able to manage interpersonal relations In order to design and facilitate effective collaborative situations the challenge is therefore to understand the interrelations between social affective and cognitive dimensions of interactions in groups Affective Learning Together contains in depth theoretical reviews and case studies of group learning in a variety of educational situations and taught disciplines from small groups working in the secondary school classroom to teams of medical students and more informal working groups at university level Contributors provide detailed analyses of the dynamics of interpersonal relations and affects in relation with processes of meaning and knowledge elaboration including discussion of the variety of social learning situations and experiences social identities in group learning emotion motivation and knowledge elaboration conflict arguments and interpersonal tensions in group learning Bringing together a broad range of contributions from internationally recognised researchers who are seeking to broaden deepen and integrate the field of research on collaborative learning this book is essential reading for all serious students of contemporary educational research and practice

Measuring and Attaining the Goals of Education ASCD Committee on Research and Theory, Wilbur B. Brookover, 1980 Ten broad goals of education that encompass cognitive affective and psychomotor behaviors are 1 competency in basic skills 2 ability to objectively see oneself 3 understanding others 4 using accumulated knowledge to interpret the world 5 continuous learning 6 mental and physical well being 7 participation in the economic world of production and consumption 8 responsible societal membership 9 creativity and 10 coping with change A set of research questions and hypotheses on goal and subgoal interrelationships were developed and are concerned with the extent to which the achievement of one goal facilitates or interferes with the achievement of other goals and the relationship of the content and processes within the learning environment to the achievement of multiple goals of education A review of available measurement instruments both published and unpublished is presented along with information about their appropriateness for use in determining student achievement of the specified educational goals A research model for use in determining student achievement of the goals of education identifies several types of educational variables which may affect outcomes and offers some sample sets of research hypotheses JD
