Constructivism A Holistic Approach To Teaching And Learning:

Improving Human Learning in the Classroom George R. Taylor, Loretta MacKenney, 2008-10-03 Improving Human Learning in the Classroom provides a functional and realistic approach to facilitate learning through a demonstration of commonalities between the various theories of learning Designed to assist educators in eliciting students prior knowledge providing feedback transfer of knowledge and promoting self assessment Taylor and MacKenney provide proven strategies for infusing various learning theories into a curriculum guiding educators to find their own strategies for promoting learning in the classroom Both quantitative and qualitative research methods investigate learning theories and reforms in education Quantitative data sources build the theoretical framework for educating the student as well as developing strategies for closing the achievement gap Taylor and MacKenney fuse personal experiences with solid strategies for human learning theories practices education and approaches adopted to advance human capital formation in the discipline Although new accounting practices have emerged in the modern world conceptual and empirical research that provides a holistic comprehensive understanding of these evolutions and human capital approaches used to promote capabilities formation in accounting remains scarce Contemporary research often focuses on developing a framework for integrating accounting practices while coverage of human capital development is limited Instead research strands on accountancy and human capital are growing separately without a comprehensive empirical and conceptual framework for integrating the two concepts Insights on accounting practices and human capital developments are necessary for building a holistic understanding of the two concepts and working towards adopting an interdisciplinary approach The findings in this book seek to advocate for the need to develop highly skilled generations who may meet the requisite accounting and financial capabilities required in the modern global economy This book adopts both conceptual and empirical methods to address the gap in the literature on the need for research that focuses on human capital formation in the accounting and finance discipline It contributes an interdisciplinary perspective on the intersectionality between accounting practice and the human capital formation of individuals who possess the requisite knowledge
