The Woman Question in Islamic Studies Kecia Ali, 2024-09-17 The interconnected ways that sexism functions in academic Islamic studies and how to shift professional norms toward parity Despite remarkable shifts in the demographics of Islamic studies in recent decades the field continues to be dominated by men who often relegate other scholars and their work particularly research on gender to its periphery while treating subfields in which men predominate as more rigorous and central In The Woman Question in Islamic Studies Kecia Ali explores the interconnected ways that sexism functions in academic Islamic studies Examining publications citations curricula and media representations

Ali finds that despite the growth and depth of scholarship on Islam and gender men continue to overlook women's scholarship even in work that purports to discuss gender issues. Moreover, media and social media dynamics make talking about Islam and Muslims for broader audiences especially fraught for scholars who are not men, particularly when the topic is gender or sexuality. Combining broad surveys with more focused analyses of a smaller set of texts, Ali shows that textbooks and syllabi continue to exclude women as historical actors and scholars and to marginalize gender and sexuality as subject matter. Finally, she provides a Beginner's Guide to Eradicating Sexism in Islamic Studies, offering practical strategies to help scholars avoid common pitfalls in their own work and contribute to broader professional transformations.

The Portable Feminist Reader Roxane Gay, 2025-03-25. A New York Times Bestseller. A dynamic and strikingly relevant look at a feminist canon as expansive rather than definitive. A Penguin Classic. For Roxane Gay, a feminist canon is subjective and always evolving. A feminist canon represents a long history of feminist scholarship, embraces skepticism, and invites robust discussion and debate. Selected writings by ancient, historic, and more recent feminist voices include Henricus Cornelius Agrippa, Anna Julia Cooper, Kimberl Crenshaw, Dorothy Allison, Leslie Feinberg, Eileen Myles, Mona Eltahawy, bell hooks, Sara Ahmed, Cherr e Moraga, Audre Lorde, The Guerrilla Girls, and many more. With an introduction, headnotes, and an inspired list of multimedia recommendations, Roxane Gay presents multicultural perspectives: ecofeminism, feminism, and disability feminism; labor, gender perspectives, and Black feminism. Through The Portable Feminist Reader, readers explore the state of American feminism, its successes and failures, and what feminism looks like in practice as a complex, contradictory, personal, and political, and ever-growing legacy of feminist thought.

Women in Populist Rhetoric Agnieszka Kasińska-Metryka, Karolina Pałka-Suchojad, 2025-07-28. At a time of increasing right-wing populism, Women in Populist Rhetoric examines the relationship between populist rhetoric and the real social changes that affect women and how populists gain prominence through the support they receive. Covering a broad spectrum of right-wing group activity in Western, Central, and Eastern Europe, including Hungary, France, and Czechia, this volume takes an important look at the phenomena at the level of leadership and the practice of its operation. The book is divided into four parts: the first describes the phenomenon of right-wing populism; the second examines language as a tool of populist influence; and the third and fourth analyze the narratives of populist parties towards women across different European countries. An important text for the present moment, Women in Populist Rhetoric is an invaluable text for students of politics, sociology, and gender studies.

Recollections of My Nonexistence Rebecca Solnit, 2020-03-10 Shortlisted for the James Tait Black Prize for Biography Longlisted for The Orwell Prize for Political Writing An electric portrait of the artist as a young woman that asks how a writer finds her voice in a society that prefers women to be silent from the author of Orwell's Roses In Recollections of My Nonexistence Rebecca Solnit describes her formation as a writer and as a feminist in 1980s San Francisco in an atmosphere of gender violence on the street and throughout society and the exclusion of women from cultural arenas She tells of being poor hopeful and adrift in the city that became her great teacher and of the small apartment that when she was nineteen became the home in which she transformed herself She explores the forces that liberated her as a person and as a writer books themselves the gay community that presented a new model of what else gender family and joy could mean and her eventual arrival in the spacious landscapes and overlooked conflicts of the American West Beyond being a memoir Solnit's book is also a passionate argument that women are not just impacted by personal experience but by membership in a society where violence against women pervades Looking back she describes how she came to recognize that her own experiences of harassment and menace were inseparable from the systemic problem of who has a voice or rather who is heard and respected and who is silenced and how she was galvanized to use her own voice for change
