

Chapter 3.4 - Membrane Structure and Function

How do substances move in and out of cells?

Why?

An advertisement for sports drinks, such as Gatorade, PowerAde, and Vitaminwater, etc. seem to be everywhere. All of these drinks are supposed to help your body recover and replenish lost electrolytes, fluids, and vitamins after exercise. But how do the essential molecules contained in these drinks get into your cells quickly to help you recover after exercise?

Model 1 – Simple Diffusion

1. How many different types of molecules are shown in Model 1? Two
2. Count and record the number of triangles and circles found on each side of the membrane.
Triangles — 14 on left, none on right; Triangles — 14 on left, none on right
3. Which shape is larger? Triangle
4. Describe the direction of the movement of the molecules in Model 1? Triangle
5. Which molecules are able to pass through the semi-permeable membrane? Justify your answer.
The dots, because they are small and can fit through the gaps, and because they are shown as equally distributed on both sides of the membrane

Control of Membrane Function: short-term and long-term J.M. Ritchie, P. Magistretti, L. Bolis, 2012-12-02 A critical factor in cell to cell interactions is the presence in the cell membrane of highly specific ion channels controlled by specific receptors that are bound to and activated by a gamut of external hormones and neurotransmitters Through both this action on ion channels and action on other membrane components such as G proteins extracellular signals alter intracellular events usually through the mediation of second messengers and so provide the basis for the transduction mechanism connecting extracellular signals with intracellular effectors This volume deals with the various ways that such membrane function is controlled

RESEARCH INTO MEMBRANE ASSOCIATED PHENOMENA HAS EXPANDED VERY greatly in the five years that have elapsed since the first edition of Biological Membranes was published It is to take account of rapid advances in the field that we have written the present edition There is now general acceptance of the fluid mosaic model of membrane structure and of the chemiosmotic interpretation of energetic processes and our attention has shifted from justifying these ideas to explaining membrane functions in their terms Much more information has become available concerning the role of the plasma membrane in the cell's recognition of and response to external signals and this is reflected in the increased coverage of these topics in the book The general form of the book remains the same As before a list of suggested reading sub divided by chapter is provided and this has been expanded to include a greater proportion of original papers The book is still primarily designed as an advanced undergraduate text and also to serve as an introduction for post graduate workers entering the field of membrane research We have taken cognizance of the comments of many reviewers colleagues and students on the first edition and thank them for their contributions In particular we wish to acknowledge our colleagues R Eisinger G D Holman
