Secured Techno- Economic Growth of India Dr. P. Sekhar, The book explores sector wise dimensions of security and how security undermines India's capacity to provide opportunities and services to help people sustain livelihoods. In addition, it focuses on some non-traditional security issues relative to each sector and their security implications for India. While India will continue to grow at a healthy rate, it is important for India to provide a stable economic environment in which we can grow rapidly and attract investments. The object of economic activity in any country is to promote the well-being and standard of living of the people. This book is an exhaustive effort to overview India as a nation which has a sound economic and social infrastructure. The economic infrastructure includes the roads, airports, railways, ports, telecom, and power. Education and training, tourism, and health services are included in the social infrastructure. It also reflects on the fact that, despite being a highly industrialized country, agriculture is the main occupation of the people of India. This book examines growth experience in various states, regions, and sectors of India and its Growth components. This book describes policies, roles, and responsibilities and the concept of operations for assessing, prioritizing, protecting, and restoring critical infrastructure and key resources (CIKR) of India and its territories and possessions during actual or potential security risks. Hence, the book attempts to identify principal drivers of the economy in India and their contribution to economic growth. The sectors are Industry, Power, Education, Agriculture, Healthcare, Telecom, Banking, Real estate, Transport, Tourism, etc. The entire growth process will come to a screeching halt if security concerns are not timely and adequately addressed, and the value addition comes with prevention, response, restoration, and recovery efforts when there is full participation of government and industry partners.

Sustainable Materials and Technologies in VLSI and Information Processing Shashi Kant Dargar, Shilpi Birla, Abha Dargar, Avtar Singh, D. Ganeshaperumal, 2025-05-23. The International Conference on Sustainable Materials and Technologies in VLSI and Information Processing aimed to converge advancements in semiconductor technology with sustainable practices, addressing the critical need for eco-consciousness in the field of Very Large Scale Integration (VLSI) and Information Processing. The primary purpose of the conference was to explore innovative materials, manufacturing processes, and design methodologies that minimize environmental impact while optimizing performance and functionality in electronic devices. Key features of the conference included interdisciplinary discussions on sustainable materials such as biodegradable polymers, low-power semiconductor materials, and recyclable electronic components. Additionally, it focused on emerging technologies like quantum computing, neuromorphic computing, and photonic integrated circuits, exploring their potential contributions to sustainability in VLSI and information processing. The intended audience comprised researchers, scientists, engineers, and industry professionals from academia, government, and private sectors involved in semiconductor technology, materials science, environmental sustainability, and information processing. What set this conference apart was its unique emphasis on sustainability within the realm of VLSI and information processing. While there are conferences focusing on either semiconductor technology or sustainability separately this conference bridged the gap between the two fostering discussions and collaborations that pave the way for greener and more efficient electronic devices and systems
