Citizens of Nowhere Debi Goodwin, 2011-06-21 An inspiring story of courage adaptation and determination a year in the life of 11 refugee students entering universities across Canada Most journalists have stories they never forget This is mine When Debi Goodwin travelled to the Dadaab Refugee Camp in 2007 to shoot a documentary on young Somali refugees soon coming to Canada she did not anticipate the impact the journey would have on her A year later in August of 2008 she decided to embark upon a new journey starting in the overcrowded refugee camps in Kenya and ending in university campuses across Canada For a year she recorded the lives of eleven very lucky refugee students who had received coveted scholarships from Canadian universities guaranteeing them both a spot in the student body and permanent residency in Canada We meet them in the overcrowded confines of a Kenyan refugee camp and track them all the way through a year of dramatic and sometimes traumatic adjustments to new life in a foreign country called Canada This is a snapshot of a refugee's first year in Canada in particular a snapshot of young men and women lucky and smart enough to earn their passage from refugee camp to Canadian campus

Everything Is So Political Sandra McIntyre, 2013-05-01. The stories within Everything Is So Political explore the intersection between politics and the contemporary short story. From the overt to the subtle, this collection tackles a broad range of topics and themes from women's rights and Aboriginal culture to environmentalism, terrorism and totalitarianism. This is one of the few Canadian anthologies that focuses on political fiction, and it does so in a very powerful and artful way, flying in the face of readers, writers and critics alike who claim that writing with a political agenda occurs at the expense of literary quality. Consisting of twenty short stories, this collection is proof that it is increasingly difficult, even impossible, for fiction not to be political. But make no mistake: the stories in this anthology are stories first, stories that are meant to be read, shared and enjoyed, but stories that will make you see things differently and question the world around you.
