Who Has Seen The Wind Wo Mitchell:

Who Has Seen the Wind William Ormond Mitchell, 2001 The story of young Brian who learns about life and death freedom and justice as he comes of age in the Canadian prairies Writing in Dust Jenny Kerber, 2011-03-17 Writing in Dust is the first sustained study of prairie Canadian literature from an ecocritical perspective Drawing on recent scholarship in environmental theory and criticism Jenny Kerber considers the ways in which prairie writers have negotiated processes of ecological and cultural change in the region from the early twentieth century to the present The book begins by proposing that current environmental problems in the prairie region can be understood by examining the longstanding tendency to describe its diverse terrain in dualistic terms either as an idyllic natural space or as an irredeemable wasteland It inquires into the sources of stories that naturalize ecological prosperity and hardship and investigates how such narratives have been deployed from the period of colonial settlement to the present It then considers the ways in which works by both canonical and more recent writers ranging from Robert Stead W O Mitchell and Margaret Laurence to Tim Lilburn Louise Halfe and Thomas King consistently challenge these dualistic landscape myths proposing alternatives for the development of more ecologically just and sustainable relationships among people and between humans and their physical environments Writing in Dust asserts that reading environmentally can help us to better understand a host of issues facing prairie inhabitants today including the environmental impacts of industrial agriculture resource extraction climate change shifting urban rural demographics the significance of Indigenous understandings of human nature relationships and the complex often contradictory meanings of eco cultural metaphors of alien invasiveness hybridity and wildness Canadian Film and Video Loren R. Lerner, 1997-01-01 This extensive bibliography and reference guide is an invaluable resource for researchers practitioners students and anyone with an interest in Canadian film and video With over 24 500 entries of which 10 500 are annotated it opens up the literature devoted to Canadian film and video at last making it readily accessible to scholars and researchers Drawing on both English and French sources it identifies books catalogues government reports theses and periodical and newspaper articles from Canadian and non Canadian publications from the first decade of the twentieth century to 1989 The work is bilingual descriptive annotations are presented in the language s of the original publication Canadian Film and Video Film et vid o canadiens provides an in depth guide to the work of over 4000 individuals working in film and video and 5000 films and videos The entries in Volume I cover topics such as film types the role of government laws and legislation censorship festivals and awards production and distribution companies education cinema buildings women and film and video art A major section covers filmmakers video artists cinematographers actors producers and various other film people Volume II presents an author index a film and video title index and a name and subject index In the tradition of the highly acclaimed publication Art and Architecture in Canada these volumes fill a long standing need for a comprehensive reference tool for Canadian film and video This bibliography guides and supports the work of film historians and practitioners
