A Rhetoric of the Unreal Christine Brooke-Rose, 1981-10-15 This 1981 book is a study of wide range of fiction from short stories to tales of horror from fairy tales and romances to science fiction to which the rather loose term fantastic has been applied Cutting across this wide field Professor Brooke Rose examines in a clear and precise way the essential differences between these types of narrative against the background of realistic fiction In doing so she employs many of the methods of modern literary theory from Russian formalism to structuralism while at the same time bringing to these approaches a sharp critical intuition and sound common sense of her own The range of texts considered is broad from Poe and James to Tolkien from Flann O'Brien to the American postmodernism This book should prove a source of stimulation to all teachers and students of modern literary theory and genre as well as those interested in fantastic literature

Earth Words John Reibetanz,2021-10-20 The leaves of paper butterfly wing thin let light stream through only one side of each If poetry is what we do to break bread with the dead as Seamus Heaney put it Earth Words breaks bread with three earlier writers through the glosa a poetic form that unfolds as a dialogue The collection inscribes a series of concentric circles moving outwards from the eleventh century world of Wang An shih through the nineteenth century of Henry Thoreau and into the twentieth century with Emily Carr Though the environmental and political problems of the twenty first century feel unique the figures in this book are met with similar challenges Wang s writings embody an ideal relationship between self and nature preserving a sense of rootedness in times resembling the upheavals of the Trump era This relationship is confirmed in conversations with Thoreau whose closeness to nature provides an antidote to our age s dependence on digital forms of communication He also grapples with slavery and the failure to respect the full humanity of Indigenous peoples struggles that ripple out into the present Carr s writings and art enter into Indigenous cultures and witness the enduring value of their way of looking at nature She realizes that the impulse to creatively express one s being runs through the entire natural world Culminating in this realization the concentric circles of Earth Words broaden out to include its twenty first century readers as well as its writers in a vision of creative growth
