Proof Technology in Mathematics Research and Teaching Gila Hanna, David A. Reid, Michael de Villiers, 2019-10-02 This book presents chapters exploring the most recent developments in the role of technology in proving The full range of topics related to this theme are explored including computer proving digital collaboration among mathematicians mathematics teaching in schools and universities and the use of the internet as a site of proof learning Proving is sometimes thought to be the aspect of mathematical activity most resistant to the influence of technological change While computational methods are well known to have a huge importance in applied mathematics there is a perception that mathematicians seeking to derive new mathematical results are unaffected by the digital era The reality is quite different Digital technologies have transformed how mathematicians work together how proof is taught in schools and universities and even the nature of proof itself Checking billions of cases in extremely large but finite sets impossible a few decades ago has now become a standard method of proof Distributed proving by teams of mathematicians working independently on sections of a problem has become very much easier as digital communication facilitates the sharing and comparison of results Proof assistants and dynamic proof environments have influenced the verification or refutation of conjectures and ultimately how and why proof is taught in schools And techniques from computer science for checking the validity of programs are being used to verify mathematical proofs Chapters in this book include not only research reports and case studies but also theoretical essays reviews of the state of the art in selected areas and historical studies The authors are

Language, Cognition, and Biblical Exegesis Ronit Nikolsky, István Czachesz, Frederick S. Tappenden, Tamás Biró, 2019-06-13 What role do texts play in religious practice What is the relationship between these texts and cognition Are some texts more successful because they are better adapted to our cognitive structures Why is biblical interpretation necessary and what is the cognitive process behind it This book considers such questions and fills the gap in research on religious texts and narratives in the cognitive science of religion The study of ancient religions and biblical studies are dominated by textual evidence However the cognitive science of religion is lacking significant research on the language and textual interpretation of this literature This book presents a systematic attempt to redefine the interpretation of religious texts in a cognitive framework providing concrete textual analysis on a broad selection of biblical passages It explores the ways that cognitive approaches to language and textual interpretation expand the disciplines of the cognitive science of religion and biblical studies This book brings together methodology from the cognitive sciences linguistics philology biblical studies and religious studies to offer a new perspective for biblical studies and cognitive sciences It presents a renewed vision of textual interpretation one that aligns hermeneutical reflection with our cognitive capacities Logic Programming and Knowledge Engineering Tore Amble, 1987 This book is written for students and professionals with an interest in engineering who need a theoretical as well as practical introduction to logic programming and how it can be used to build knowledge based systems It is suitable for an undergraduate course at third or fourth year level For complete understanding it requires two years of programming experience with some knowledge of Pascal but parts of the book should be comprehensible to a wider readership SPAA ,1998 The Ohio Teacher Genry Graham Williams, 1911 Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1889 Government Reports Announcements & Index ,1977-03 An Introductory Guide to EC Competition Law and Practice Valentine Korah, 1994 Journal of Education ,1893 Principles and Practice of Semantic Web Reasoning ,2005 A Graded Question Book F.
