Economics 2281 June 2008 Paper 12 Answer

Rachel S Tattersall

Economics 2281 June 2008 Paper 12 Answer:

Global Energy Policy and Security Walter Leal Filho, Vlasios Voudouris, 2013-09-03 Despite efforts to increase renewables the global energy mix is still likely to be dominated by fossil fuels in the foreseeable future particularly gas for electricity and oil for land air and sea transport The reliance on depleting conventional oil and natural gas resources and the geographic distribution of these reserves can have geopolitical implications for energy importers and exporters Global Energy Policy and Security examines the security of global and national energy supplies as well as the sensitivity and impacts of sustainable energy policies which emphasize the various political economic technological financial and social factors that influence energy supply demand and security Multidisciplinary perspectives provide the interrelated topics of energy security and energy policy within a rapidly changing socio political and technological landscape during the 21st century Included are two main types of interdisciplinary papers One set of papers deals with technical aspects of energy efficiency renewable energy and the use of tariffs The other set of papers focuses on social economic or political issues related to energy security and policy also describing research practical projects and other concrete initiatives being performed in different parts of the world This book will prove useful to all those students and researchers interested in the connections between energy production energy use energy security and the role of energy policies

The Evolution of Economic Development in Africa Francis K. Mbroh, 2021-07-11 Within the theoretical framework of the trade growth and structural transformation growth nexuses the book examines the evolution of African goods and service trade in terms of value and share of global commerce relative to other regions during the period 1948 2017 It also identifies and discusses discernible changes in the composition and structure of African exports and imports between 1995 and 2015 and their implications for economic development in Africa The study attributes Africa's laggard trade performance during the period primarily to sub optimal macroeconomic policies and lack of bold export development policies and initiatives among other factors It also offers an incisive discussion of several inhibitions to the structural transformation of African exports and imports including lack of finance globalization tariff and non tariff measures in global markets The discussion of the evolution of African trade during the period 1948 2017 based on statistics and publications of international organizations including the UNCTAD the World Bank and the African Development Bank among others is the first of its kind in terms of scope and depth of review of African trade The analyses of cross border trade during 1948 2017 and their implications for Africa's economic development prospects constitute a useful reference material for academics and students of African and development studies and African and international policymakers
