A Study of Customer Experience Management at Starbucks in Cluj-Napoca* Szintia Dezsi,2019-02-25 Master s Thesis from the year 2018 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance language English abstract The principal aim of this paper is to analyze the customer experience journey to evaluate the brand promise versus brand delivery of Starbucks throughout a local survey in order to determine how well the values presented in the mission statement of the company align with customers perceptions in Cluj Napoca Romania The choice is not arbitrary given that it is one of the most popular coffee shops in the country which may be attributed not only to the quality of the products and services but to the sophistication it is associated with as well Customer experience CX has become a buzzword in business management and it can help companies reevaluate and rethink their strategy in order to gain competitive advantage in their market Organizations are becoming increasingly aware of the need of creating an outstanding and unique customer experience Leaders have realized that customer satisfaction is no longer enough to ensure customer loyalty and the thriving of a brand in today s world In these circumstances it is no surprise that the topic has been receiving considerable attention over the past years Bam! Barry J. becomes the only sustainable competitive advantage for creating customer loyalty The harsh economic realities that every business faces today and for the foreseeable future make this even truer BAM Is a no nonsense book that teaches companies why they want to deliver effective customer service in this self service world and how to do it The book debunks the 20 common myths of customer service from The customer is always right to Customer service means the same thing to everyone to Companies achieve customer service by under promising and over delivering myths that too many companies use automatically to run their customer service practices and policies without ever questioning them BAM replaces myths with a tactical approach that shows companies how to make more money through attitudes and actions that will help their customers feel satisfied in good times or bad Creating satisfied customers is the only enduring competitive advantage left in a world market where virtually everything is a commodity Forget the customer service platitudes The only reason a company should offer excellent customer service is because it will make money for the business Starbucks Experience
