Lower Mall Precinct Phase 1 DP25013

Development projects on campus are guided by Campus Vision 2050 and UBC's Land Use Plan, the long-term vision for growth and change for the physical campus. The Lower Mall Phase 1 project on the existing St. John's College site supports UBC's academic mission and delivers on Campus Vision 2050 by expanding affordable student housing at UBC, adding approximately 1,500 beds for graduate students, contributing to the UBC Housing Action Plan (HAP) goal of 3,300 new beds by 2034.

Along with student housing, the project incorporates a comprehensive suite of supporting amenities that enhance the residential experience, including a 250-seat dining hall, a 37-space childcare centre, office space, study rooms, and other amenities that are distributed throughout to create community hubs and support the diverse needs of graduate students.

The plan is to arrange the six buildings around two central courtyards, incorporating the adaptive reuse of UBC's heritage Fire Hall. One building will be an eight-storey hybrid mass timber and wood-frame structure, advancing low-carbon and sustainable construction. The project aims to preserve and restore the forest located to the west of the site and bring that ecology into the courtyard landscape.

This project is the first phase of the Lower Mall Precinct Development Plan. Campus Vision 2050 identifies Place Vanier, adjacent to the proposed development, as a future site for student housing expansion.
