Solutions of the Ionized Radiating Shock Layer John T. Howe,1963 The equations for the nonadiabatic shock layer in the stagnation region of bluff bodies are solved for flight speeds up to 50 000 feet per second in air The effects of energy transport by conduction diffusion of dissociated and ionized species and gaseous radiation with reabsorption are included in the analysis The effects of a foreign species on the radiant energy transfer in the shock layer are also investigated Convective and radiative heat transfer rates in the stagnation region of the body are obtained from the solutions and are compared with the results of others Coupling between the two modes of heat transfer is examined A simplified method for predicting the effect of radiative transport on convective heat transfer is discussed Shock standoff distance determined from the solutions is presented and compared with the results of other investigations Results indicate that coupling among the energy transfer processes may reduce the heat transfer by as much as 50 percent
