

WEEK 1 26/07/2018

- An Immunogen (immunogenic) elicits an adaptive immune response e.g. influenza virus
- An Antigen (Ag) is a specific immune target (usually referring to recognition by adaptive cells) e.g. hemagglutinin on surface of influenza virus.
- Levels of protection from pathogens:
 - First line: Physical barriers that viruses and bacteria must cross. Skin covers and mucous membranes that line digestive, respiratory, reproductive tracts, cover ~400 m²
 - Second line: Innate immune system. Macrophages (Greek for "big eater"), neutrophils, natural killer (NK) cells, Cytokines (hormone-like proteins that mediate inflammation), Complement proteins
 - Third line (vertebrates only): Adaptive immune system, adapts to defend against specific pathogens using variable receptors.
 - B cells make antibodies, each individual B cell makes a specific antibody to a specific antigen
 - T cells mediate cellular responses using variable receptors (T cell receptors; TCRs)

- Innate Immunity:
 - Present at birth and for life
 - No specificity (i.e. can respond to many stimuli)
 - Not modified by stimulus (i.e. no memory, not enhanced on subsequent exposure)

Modeling and Dynamics of Infectious Diseases Zhen Ma, 2009 This book provides a systematic introduction to the fundamental methods and techniques and the frontiers of OCo along with many new ideas and results on OCo infectious disease modeling parameter estimation and transmission dynamics It provides complementary approaches from deterministic to statistical to network modeling and it seeks viewpoints of the same issues from different angles from mathematical modeling to statistical analysis to computer simulations and finally to concrete applications

Population Biology of Infectious Diseases R.M.
Anderson, R.M. May, 2012-12-06 for the design of control programs in extreme cases as discussed below by Fine et al this volume and elsewhere it can happen that immunization programs although they protect vaccinated individuals actually increase the overall incidence of a particular disease The possibility that many nonhuman animal populations may be regulated by parasitic infections is another topic where it may be argued that conventional disciplinary boundaries have retarded investigation While much ecological research has been devoted to exploring the extent to which competition or predator prey interactions may regulate natural populations or set their patterns of geographical distribution few substantial studies have considered the possibility that infectious diseases may serve as regulatory agents 1 8 On the other hand the many careful epidemiological studies of the transmission and maintenance of parasitic infections in human and other animal populations usually assume the host population density to be set by other considerations and not dynamically engaged with the disease see for example 1 2 With all these considerations in mind the Dahlem Workshop from which this book derives aimed to weave strands together testing theoretical analysis against empirical facts and patterns and identifying outstanding problems in pursuit of a better understanding of the overall population biology of parasitic infections For the purpose of the workshop the term parasite was defined widely to include viruses bacteria protozoans fungi and helminths and Infection Lecture Notes is ideal for medical students junior doctors pharmacy students junior pharmacists nurses and those training in the allied health professions It presents a thorough introduction and overview of this core subject area and has been fully revised and updated to include Chapters written by leading experts reflecting current research and teaching practice New chapters covering Diagnosis of Infections and Epidemiology and Prevention Management of Infections
