

Frictions

When tying, you must remember to take friction into account. In the section about 1 came movement in section. When continuously down 1 you learn the construction of simple ways.

These ways don't have an official name, but we call them "frictions" or "frictions" in "frictions".

Frictions rely on the rope's tendency to grip itself. They are made by using the rope to create a friction point. Frictions work best when you use good-quality rope. Frictions are difficult to make. Using the figure, you can see the difference between the two ways. The rope is different from the rope, and you should know the difference.

When it's finished, you can see the difference. When making the frictions, remember that the frictions are:

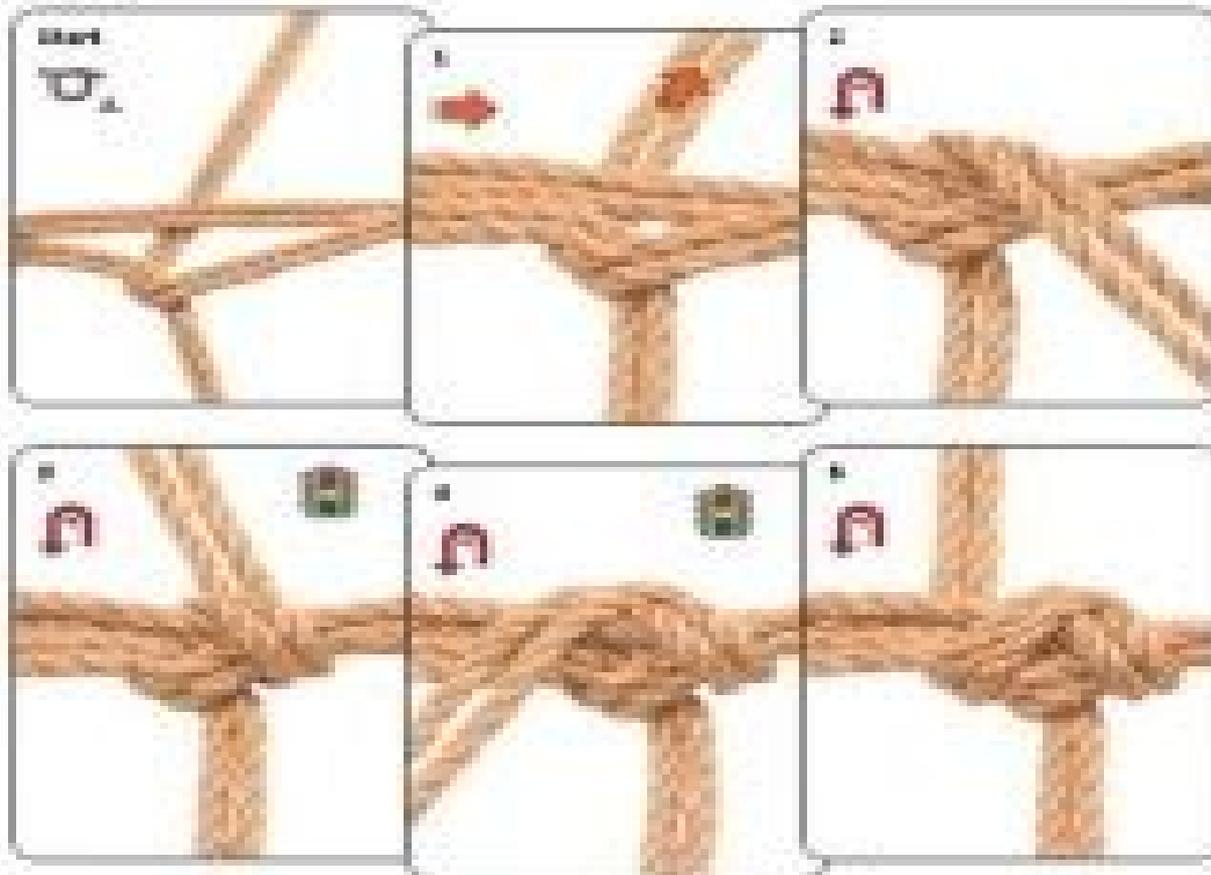

- are made by using the rope to create a friction point.
- you can use the rope to create a friction point.
- you can use the rope to create a friction point.

Finally, you can see the difference between the two ways.

There is a lot of information about frictions in the figure. You can see the difference between the two ways. You can see the difference between the two ways.
