Politics And Policy Implementation In The Third World:

Politics and Policy Implementation in the Third World Merilee S. Grindle, 2017-03-14 This book addresses the broader questions of how both the content and the context of public policy affect its implementation Through a series of case studies from Mexico Peru Brazil Colombia Zambia Kenya and India ten scholars here demonstrate that numerous factors intervene between the statement of policy goals and their actual achievement in society Originally published in 1980 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Politics and Policy Implementation in the Third World Merilee S. Grindle, Handbook on the Political Economy of Health Systems Joan Costa-Font, Alberto Batinti, Gilberto Turati, 2023-06-01 This ground breaking Handbook brings together a number of chapters into one comprehensive book on the timely subject matter of the political economy of health and health care The book contains up to date discussion on the state of the art of the key questions of the subject matter and it provides a unique understanding of health policy making by drawing on an interdisciplinary approach to political economy

Forest Certification: A Policy Perspective Chris Elliott, 2000-01-01 This paper analyses the development of certification programmes in three countries Indonesia Canada and Sweden using the Advocacy Coalition Framework ACF as a theoretical reference point The ACF is an actor based framework for analysing policy processes and has not previously been applied in a developing country Actors in the three countries took different approaches to certification In Canada in a programme development process supported by the forest products industry a management systems approach was taken In Sweden performance standards were developed in a process initially driven by NGOs In Indonesia certification was led by an NGO within a framework established by government and a performance standards approach was used The paper concludes that forest certification can be best understood as a policy instrument that promotes and facilitates policy orientated learning among actors and provides indirect incentives for improved forest management Learning occurs both as the standards to be used for certification are developed and as they are implemented The benefits of learning and consensus building among actors such as NGOs forest companies private forest owners indigenous peoples governments etc who have traditionally been in conflict with each other can be significant On the other hand where fundamental changes in forest policy such as tenure and forest revenue reform are needed certification should not be seen as a substitute for these A further conclusion is that while public policies change over periods of decades the private policies of retailers and forest product companies can adapt more rapidly to changing circumstances The concept of a fast track of private policy change compared to the slower track of governmental policy change is therefore proposed and described A number of interesting theoretical and empirical avenues for further research on certification are discussed The Geography of Third World Cities Stella Lowder,1986 This comprehensive examination of the urban structure of Third World cities surveys the growth and development of indigenous and colonial cities in Africa Asia and Latin America and provides a systematic comparative analysis of their current patterns of housing administration goods and services The author assesses the major theoretical models of Third World urban development in light of recent research and information National Security in the Third World Edward E. Azar,Chung-in Moon,1988 This important book assesses the Western concept of state and national security and incorporates the unique concerns of Third World countries It provides an in depth analysis of the special problems of security in developing nations Land Delivery for Low Income Groups in Third World Cities Robert Jan Baken,J. J. van der Linden,1992 This text provides an up to date broad and critical review of the literature on urban land supply in the Third World It deals with land supply systems as well as with policies and the experience with implementation of such policies It criticizes much present thinking on urban land issues attempts to find ways out of a current impasse in research which is divided into two schools applying either sociological anthropological or economic points of view and reviews innovative policies for overcoming some of the problems encountered in the application of traditional instruments of land policy

Nongovernments Julie Fisher,1998 A complete overview of the composition and types of NGOs that have emerged in recent years Julie Fisher describes in detail the influence these organizations have had on political systems throughout the world and the hope their existence holds for the realization of sustainable development The New Politics of Population Jason Leonard Finkle,C.
