Chapter 2 Diversity in Organizations

1) Kimberly Ortiz strongly believes in working for a company that promotes diversity. She believes that such organizations are respectful of differences and allow employees more exposure. She recently attended an interview where she was told that the company follows policies that focus on organizational diversity. However, when she finally joined the company, she had a strong feeling that the company's claim was not true. Which of the following, if true, weakens Kimberly's belief that the company does not encourage diversity?

- A) Eighty-five percent of the top management positions in the company are held by men.
- B) She is the only African-American member in the entire workforce.
- C) The workforce is not dominated by any specific ethnic or racial group.
- D) The previous company she worked for made a conscious effort to employ an equal number of men and women.
- E) Her team members believe that they are treated equally in spite of differences in performance.

Answer: C

Explanation: The fact that the workforce is not dominated by any one ethnic or racial group indicates that the workplace has a mix of all ethnicities and races and does not discriminate. The fact that 85 percent of the top management positions of the company are held by men works against the argument because it shows that the company is biased toward men. In addition, if Kimberly is the only African-American member in the entire workforce, it shows that the company is biased toward other racial groups. Kimberly's previously working for a company that believes in gender equality is irrelevant to this argument. Her team members being treated equally in spite of differences in performance represents unfair discrimination. It works against the argument.

On being different:
Exploring the relationship between dissimilarity and social inclusion in the workplace Onur Sahin, 2024-09-06 In this dissertation I investigate how being different from the majority of one s colleagues shapes social inclusion perceptions at work In Chapter 1 I introduce the relational demography approach and ingroup projection model as the frameworks of my dissertation and summarize the methods findings and broader implications of the empirical chapters that follow In these chapters I utilize a multi method approach consisting of desk research experimental studies and large scale correlational studies to offer six significant contributions to the literature First in Chapter 2 an analysis of diversity statements of 84 Dutch private and public organizations showed that most statements include both surface level readily visible such as gender and ethnicity and deep level dimensions more underlying such as personality and sexual orientation However surface level dimensions were more often included without clear differences between statements of private and public organizations Second in Chapter 3 experimental studies N 128 in Study 1 N 196 in Study 2 recruited via Prolific established the causal relationship between dissimilarity and social inclusion Third in Chapter 4 a survey study with 887 employees of a public organization in the Netherlands revealed that deep level dissimilarity rather than surface level dissimilarity related to social inclusion and that inclusion explained the relationships between dissimilarity and work related outcomes Fourth in Chapter 5 a survey study with 6 312 employees of another Dutch public organization accounted for multidimensionality and revealed that as employees perceived dissimilarity on more dimensions they perceived less inclusion Furthermore the results showed that dissimilarity in personality ethnicity cultural background age level of education work experience and disability negatively related to perceptions of inclusion offering a more nuanced understanding of the dissimilarity inclusion relationship Fifth a review of the relational demography literature in Chapter 6 identified four general mechanisms theorized to explain why dissimilarity relates to outcomes 1 uncertainty 2 trust 3 disapproval and 4 initiated interaction between colleagues A survey study with 2 409 UK residents recruited via Prolific confirmed that all four mechanisms uniquely explained the dissimilarity inclusion relationship Sixth and finally I found support for the indispensable role of the organizational climate for inclusion across Chapters 4 5 and 6 In these chapters a positive climate for inclusion buffered the negative relationships between dissimilarity and outcomes My research argues for a broader consideration of dissimilarity dimensions beyond the dimensions diversity policies typically focus on emphasizing the importance of recognizing multidimensionality and the crucial contextual role of climate for inclusion This dissertation not only enriches our understanding of workplace diversity but also offers actionable opportunities to mitigate social inclusion disparities
